

Whole Foods Cookbooks & Cooking Videos

Not Milk, NUT Milks!

Are you seeking an alternative to factory farmed cow's milk that is free of drugs and hormones? Do you believe cows are born to be sentient creatures, not "milking machines?" This recipe book and video course teaches you how to prepare 40 delicious, dairy-free beverages (rich in protein, minerals, and EFA's) that are made from a blend of fresh, organic nuts, seeds, fruits, spices, natural sweeteners, and flavoring extracts. Enjoy the essence of nature's orchards in every sip!

Gourmet Grains-Main Dishes Made of Nature

In the U.S., people eat over 250 pounds of meat each year. Its production depletes vast amounts of natural resources and leaves tons of non-recyclable waste in our ecosystems. By eating just one vegetarian meal a week, you can reduce your consumption of meat by 35 pounds and reduce your ecological footprint. This recipe book and video course whets your appetites for over 90 meatless recipes that turn ancient grains into gourmet dining pleasures!

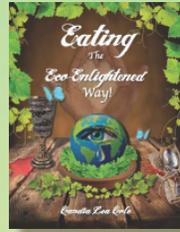

Super Smoothies-Taste the Nectar of Life!

Is your body craving vibrant, "living foods" that are known to help energize the body, shed unwanted pounds, and reverse aging? This recipe book and video course features over 90 dairy-free, four-season smoothies that are prepared from colorful fruits and veggies. They are fortified with nuts, seeds, spices, pseudo-grains, non-dairy milks, natural sweeteners, and super foods. Rainbow-colored smoothies offer to feed your eyes and heart, as well as your palate!

Eating the Eco-Enlightened Way!

Do you sometimes approach mealtimes as a mundane appointment with pots and pans? Are you aware that preparing food offers to be an effort of your soul? In this book, I share the ways that I give meaning and joy to meal-making by connecting with nature, my body, my kitchen, my ingredients, and even my cooking utensils!

Meet the Founder of Eco-Learning Legacies

Candia Lea Cole is a widely celebrated author and holistic health educator. She is known by her peers in the holistic health community as "The Eco-Intelligent Lifestyle Mentor."

As the founder of Eco-Learning Legacies, she is passionate about creating educational tools that support individuals, families, and health educators, in learning about, and teaching others about, how to nourish wellness in their bodies and the earth.

Candia's journey to creating an eco-intelligent lifestyle began during her teenage years when she found herself dealing with the symptoms of environmental illness, a condition that doctors weren't trained to diagnose or treat. With her mother's guidance and support, she embarked on a self-learning/self-healing journey.

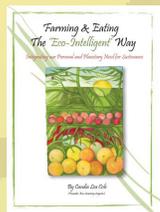

Along her educational path, Candia discovered the role that toxins played in creating her health condition, including toxins within the environment, as well as toxins in the foods and personal care products that she used. She adopted a clean, green organic lifestyle, and taught herself to how to use food as a form of medicine for healing her body.

Candia understands the challenges that are related to living in today's toxic world. She offers her hand to those who seek support for creating a healthier lifestyle, and she is passionate about guiding people of all ages to awaken their eco-intelligence and regrow their bonds with their bodies and the natural world.
