ECO-MENTOR ACTIVIST TRAINING

(Which Includes Candia's Eco-Mentor Guidebook and 6 Activity Journals, offered in PDF and Audio/Video Format)

(What Participants Are Saying)

Candia, first, let me just express to you that your Eco-Mentor Activist Leadership teachings and your method of delivery are both unique and interesting. They complement each other well. You've shared a message of great importance (urgency) delivered in a way that is NOT heavy handed or forceful. Your use of the "meal metaphor" (as a point of reference for the educational meal), along with your mentoring tone, are the direct cause of this wonderful delivery. I find the content so much more digestible than say the delivery of movies like An Inconvenient Truth and the like. Thank you for sharing your impressive body of work with me! -Jared Maluyo, College Graduate, English Lit Major, Writer, and Children's Storyteller

Candia, I have finally taken time to really engage with the learning modules in your Eco-Mentor Activist Training. I want to share first off that your program is nudging me to remember what is truly important in my life, --the balance of my personal ecology (body, mind, and spirit) and the future of our planet. I'm very inspired by the fact that your training materials can be used individually by a young adult (age 18-35), or collaboratively, by a parent and a teenager. It's really genius! -

Lucy Franklin, Psychologist and Natural Health Enthusiast

Candia, you have such a beautiful and empowering way of sharing a message about the importance of eco-intelligent living. I listened to (and read) every one of the 24 “Discovery & Empowerment Dialogues” and 12 Discovery Missions featured in your curriculum training, and they were very thought provoking and engaging. I will send you some of my positive feedback in a separate document. Thank you for awakening me to my innate eco-intelligence and guiding me to make eco-conscious lifestyle choices. I know that I (and my generation as a whole) have work to do when it comes to making the planet a more livable place and healing the illness that all people and living things are currently experiencing as the result of our unconscious behaviors. -Sharan Raj Hazari, College Student, and training participant

Candia, your Eco-Mentor Leadership Training awakened my core being to the heart and soul of green living, by way of a multi-dimensional, activity-rich curriculum that made the process of self-mentoring joyful and engaging in every way! I now follow a pathway for living the eco-intelligent way that connects my health and well-being to the earth's health and well-being. In my view, you are sharing a message with humanity that supports them in honoring, blessing, and renewing the sacred relationship between mother earth and all her children. What a timely gift for young adults and their families! —Kathleen Richardson, Director of the Southwest Family Room & Project Foundation for Teens

Candia, the teachings, and self-empowerment lessons featured in your Eco-Mentor Leadership Training captured for me, the way to BE here on Earth as nature originally intended, and the way we (or at least some of us, and eventually all of us) are coming home to. Your work is a spiritual evolutionary journey of the body, heart, and soul for all beings, including Mother Earth. Thank you for creating your wonderful educational tools! -Rhonda Chaikin, Teacher, Change-Agent, and Channel for the Divine Mother

Candia, the 24 Discovery & Empowerment Dialogues featured in your Eco-Mentor Leadership Training Curriculum should, I believe, be on the national curriculum in schools and colleges across the country! You offered insightful, accessible, thoroughly researched, with driven and practical steps to help me and all students, to think for ourselves about the impact of our lifestyle, food, and health choices on our bodies and the earth. This educational package is wonderful and timely. Every college aged student needing to learn how to care for themselves in today's fast shifting world, who needs to learn preventative health care using dietary measures, needs to work with this resource! -Suzanne Connolly, Journalist, Lawyer, Shamanic Practitioner, Medical Intuitive, and Energy Healer

(From Curriculum Evaluators)

Candia's leadership training and books address the emerging needs of our young adult children in a changing world. Old ways of looking at and interacting with the world no longer work. We need a new paradigm, a new 'life curriculum' that helps define our place in the universe. Candia, I'm pleased to know, has created one. The richness of her own healing journey has guided her in teaching both parents and young adults not only how to make healthy lifestyle choices, but how to experience life with their whole beings!" -Jeanne Troge- M.A., parent, educator, counselor, and facilitator of "The Journey" program for teens

I am impressed. No, I am in awe of Candia's commitment to this work and her courage to communicate it so clearly. Her Eco-Mentor Guidebook, her memoir, and her six Discovery & Empowerment Activity Journals introduce us to her brilliant six step pathway to eco-intelligent living, a path that she unearthed on her own self-healing journey. The themes that we are invited to learn about for the purpose of creating a more eco-intelligent way of life are purposeful and practical and, therefore, powerful. I am adamantly convinced that whoever embraces and applies their critical message will immensely benefit themselves and the world we all share! — Ron L. Fronk, Ph.D. Holistic Health Sciences, M.A. Psychology, parent, speaker, and author of "Creating a Lifestyle You Can Live With"

Candia Lea Cole's Eco-Mentor Leadership Training is a bold and ambitious project designed to take on one of the most difficult challenges of our time: the preservation of our health and our planet through a paradigm shift in our nation's food and lifestyle choices. Her thoughtfully designed curriculum (featuring companion books) is destined to show young people how their choices can lead to either the destruction of their health and environment, or the prospect of a safer, 'greener' earth. This 'stand-alone' home education model provides learners with new life options that can reverse the dangerous ecological path they have inherited. -Lois Zander, parent, and special education teacher

Candia, congratulations on "the dream curriculum" materials that you've birthed into such beautiful manifestations! The content of your curriculum is woven together in a unique ("appetizing") way! I like the meal metaphor you use in your Eco-Mentor Guidebook. In terms of the learning modules (your 6 Activity Journals), I liked being able to download an mp3. Your audio recordings are excellent, and your voice is soothing to listen to. The illustrated PDF option enhanced the audio. I can see that your teachings are designed to encourage and help late adopters get comfortable with (and enjoy) the prospect of eco-intelligent living. However, I can see that your memoir adds an intriguing dimension to the training that even the most seasoned eco-minded person will appreciate! -Vonda Vaden Bates, Alliance Builder and Leadership Coach

Candia Lea Cole is an angel walking the earth who has experienced several challenging health issues in her life, yet she shines a light for others that is blinding. After learning about "eco-intelligence" from her (and being exposed to her curriculum materials), I invited her to write a chapter for my book, "Bringing Heart and Soul to Education" which introduces her six principles of eco-intelligent living. Her curriculum does a beautiful job of preparing parents, mentors, and young adults for "real life" in our world today! Schools and colleges are not offering heart-awakening curriculums like hers, but they should be! -William G. Spady, Father of OBE (Outcome Based Education) and author of numerous books

Leaders in today's world are hungering for a "time-out" for deep, genuine, transformative conversation as they prepare to step forward and serve in these times. And the learning materials featured in Candia's Eco-Mentor training offer to stimulate that conversation with our families, friends, and communities. Candia is a visionary practitioner that we can all trust to lead us on the educational path that explores living healthy, whole, and sustainable lives! -Patricia Neal, Co-Founder of CEO Heartland Inc. and Center for Purposeful Leadership

In her training, Candia Lea Cole makes the case that eco-conscious food and lifestyle choices are part of an intentional lifestyle that encompasses attention to our earth's ecology (plants, insects, animals, and ecosystems), as well as our personal ecology (our bodies, minds, hearts, and spirits). I applaud her effectiveness at explicitly locating humans among all other species 'within' nature, rather than 'outside of it.' I also very much like her ecologically integrated approach to thinking about food, nutrition, green living, and natural health care as part of a much larger set of important health issues and life issues. Her curriculum serves a purpose that I am passionate about, which is to reduce the impact of environmental toxins on our health and our children's health. -Dr. Ted Schettler, M.D., co-author of 'Generations at Risk and in Harm's Way'

Amidst our attention deficit, over prescribed world of weedless lawns, canned convenience, and 'perfect' strawberries, Candia's Bring Back the Earth! Eco-Mentor Activist Training offers profound hope for the eco-soul of our existence. With her clarion call to action, Candia ushers in a new era for humanity with a vision that has the power to awaken our eco-intelligence and transform lives. Practical, yet deeply absorbing—Candia's model for living well in the 21st century, offers every man, woman, and child, the gift of re-connectedness, and the discovery of a heart-centered passion that nurtures their health and happiness. I commend her work, her comprehensive eco-integrated vision, and her skill, as she brings this essential movement into the light of day! —Sherri Lander Smith, parent and former home educator; co-founder and CLO of GenieU.com

As she inspires us to a greater understanding of our connection to the 'whole,' let us find ways to assist her in bringing her dreams into reality. What we do for ourselves dies with us; what we do for others' lives on forever. Her curriculum is a work of doing for others. —Bill Rezmerski, parent, certified school psychologist, business executive and professional trainer

When you interact with Candia Lea Cole's Eco-Mentor Leadership Training Curriculum (including the Apprentice and Activist Trainings) you will marvel at the ways in which her personal self-empowerment journey is now supporting other women (younger and older alike) in embarking upon their own self-empowerment journeys. In her Eco-Mentor Guidebook, you'll get a sense about why we need Eco-Mentors in every home and why schools are not preparing our youth for life in today's real world. You'll also meet the six "ingredients" of eco-intelligent living that Candia unearthed on her own self-learning/self-healing journey, which prepared her to create her "educational meal" (curriculum). Her memoir (which offers to be part of her curriculum), gives you the sense that you are walking hand in hand with Candia on the path to eco-intelligent living, and feeling both safe and inspired on the journey. Her six Activity Journals feature an amazing array of content that will give you a powerful way to make your personal healing matter while paving a path to planetary healing and service at the same time! —Dawn Richerson, Founder, Make Your Healing Matter

Don't ever misplace your copies of the books that are part of this curriculum! -Kathleen Richardson, Executive Director of the Southwest Family Room & Project Foundation for Teens, Minneapolis, MN.

Candia Lea Cole has created a beautiful eco-education legacy that is supporting the development of tomorrow's adults. In her curriculum, which symbolizes the fertile outgrowth of her own courageous self-healing journey, she leaves behind preachy, dogmatic theories about health and brings us something truly unique and practical that has the potential to create healing for many generations to come. Through education that explores the value and necessity of regrowing our broken bonds with nature, she guides us to reawaken our innate eco-intelligence and create deep healing within our personal ecology systems and our planetary ecology system. I have often wished that schools would offer wellness books and programs (like Candia's), but due to competing interests, and the fact that school curriculums aren't structured to invite heart and soul into the educational process, this simply isn't possible. I can only imagine the sacrifices that Candia needed to make in her life, to create such a magnificent body of work! Let's all thank her, by participating in, and sharing her training program with others! - Dr. Cynthia Foster, M.D., author of 'Stop the Medicine'!

Candia Lea Cole's Eco-Mentor Activist Training materials have touched my heart and spirit with two extraordinarily important qualities to build into our lives—passion and purpose. Candia lovingly reminds us that we are truly the pivotal generation who can and must make new choices to bring our world and our lives into balance while there's still time. This teacher's energy, grace, and simple human kindness are destined to leave an indelible impression on the lives of all she touches. I believe that participation in Candia's curriculum is essential for all parents, mentors, life coaches, and everyday citizens, who want to positively affect the course of mankind in the 21st century!" —Brian D.
